Whoever can not express himself on such occasions must be content to be a mere listener, and listening is rarely so interesting and beneficial as taking part in a discussion. Besides, many valuable ideas are lost to the public through the inability of men to think and speak standing. Public speaking is of use to the man or woman who aspires to take part in public affairs. Indeed, to such a one it is indispensable. The lawyer cannot get along without it, and the greater ability he has in this line the more successful he will be. The physician who aims to be more than a mere practitioner, who wishes to be of general service in his community, particularly in a Mor-. mon community, will have abundant use for...
