Reviews

It is just one of my personal favorite book. I was able to comprehend every little thing out of this published publication. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

Borings No. 629, 644, 517, and 66 are representative of the amount and vertical distribution of the salts for the unirrigated low-land part of this type of soil, where the depth to standing water is 6 or more feet, which is usually the case. In these samples the aggregate amount of salt to the depth of 6 feet is considerable and will correspond to the area shown on the map by an appropriate color, where the salt content to a depth of 5 feet ranges from 0.6 to 1 per cent. A small portion of this type of soil, however, falls within another area on the map, where the salt content exceeds 1 percent, while, on the other hand, some of it falls in the blue area, with less than 0.6 of 1 per cent. The first foot usually carries a relatively small amount of salt and indicates that crops could be successfully grown. As we go deeper, however, the amount of salts increases very rapidly and the second foot is usually about the limit for alfalfa, while the third foot almost invariably contains too much to permit the growth of any agricultural crops. At 6 feet there is usually about 2 per cent of salt. This distribution of the salts probably occurs because the rains wash them downward...
