By Mary Ann McRaney

Xulon Press, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 201 x 127 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Sixteen year old Josh Stewart has it all. The good-looking football player is part of the cool crowd at school. So why is he smoking pot to dull his senses? Why is he contemplating driving his truck into a thicket of pine trees? His Christian upbringing is causing conflict with his weekday life of fitting in with the popular kids. What is a guy to do? Josh's grandmother knows. It is her prayers for her grandson and the heaven sent guardian angel on assignment that helps Josh figure out how to stay on the path that God has for him. With his new friend Gabby's guidance, Josh begins to see what is truly important and how to stand up for what he believes as well as wait for what God has for him. Many lessons are learned as the relationship between Josh and Gabby deepens. A friend's betrayal, seeing an old friend in a new light, facing one's fears, finding the confidence to be who God wants you to be, and saying goodbye...
