Robbed of his memories, his career, and the woman he loves, he must learn his life's work all over again. Blessed and cursed with the ability to see dangers before they happen, he travels the country, warning the victims before it's too late. His only companionship comes from a man claiming to be his cousin—who acts like a friend but feels like an enemy. Lost, confused, and deeply conflicted, Tristan is at war with his own nature, uncertain of whether he wants to spend his life saving strangers, or if they're even worth saving. What's more, answers about his painful quest—the only thing he truly wants—continue to elude him. Through it all, one name haunts him—Karolena, the person who stole so much of his happiness and left him for dead. Each day brings him closer to their inevitable confrontation, but when the past is a blur and the truth is constantly being rewritten, how can Tristan possibly trust anyone but himself?
